SACKING RICH ORE FROM NEW NORTH STAR LEDGE

Although no information of an official nature is obtainable in consequence of the absence of General Manager S. H. Brady, who is now in San Francisco, it is understood that considerable stripping of the rich ore in the west drift on the ledge encountered by the south crosscut on the 1250-foot level of the North Star mine has been done during the last few days and that about 20 tons, averaging about $400 a ton, has thus far been broken down on canvas and sacked. The rich ore exposed, it is said, continues to maintain an average of about 4 feet. In the east drift, the rake of the rich ore shoot, it is said, has taken it beneath the level within 15 feet from the crosscut, which revealed the vein. That Joe Morett, who committed suicide early yesterday morning, came to his death with suicidal intent was the declaration of the coroner's jury that investigated the case today. The inquest was held by Justice of the Peace H. H. Atkinson, ex-officio coroner, and the testimony adduced showed conclusively that Morett had spent the night previous to his death dissipating.

Several witnesses testified that Morett was purchasing wine and liquors for several women of his acquaintance, and at 3 o'clock in the morning he was awakened after falling asleep in one of the saloons. At 7 o'clock yesterday morning he was observed to enter his room and about two hours later he was found dead.

Secretary McManus of the Miners' union today telegraphed to Sandin, B. C., where Morett was initiated into the union, asking if relatives could be located. It is believed that Morett had three brothers, but no definite information could be secured as to their whereabouts. Pending receipt of word from Sandin, no arrangements will be made for the burial, which will be under the auspices of the union.

The coroner's verdict returned is as follows:

We, the jury, summoned to appear before H. H. Atkinson, justice of the peace and ex-officio coroner of Tonopah township, county of Nye, state of Nevada, on the 27th day of September, 1912, to inquire into the cause of the death of Joe Morett, who died in the said town of Tonopah, on September 26, 1912, at about 7:30 a. m., having been duly sworn according to law, and having made such inquiry after inspecting the body and hearing the testimony adduced upon our oaths each and all do say that we find that the name of the deceased was Joseph Morett, that he was born in Switzerland, and about 15 years of age; and that he came to his death between the hours of 7 and 9 a. m., September 26, in his room, No. 28, back of the Montana saloon, on Central street, in the town of Tonopah, Nye county, Nevada, and that he came to his death by a gunshot wound fired by his own hand with suicidal intent.

All of which we duly certify by this inquisition in writing by us signed this 27th day of September, 1912.
